Sense of God's call In 2006-2007, I was a Young Adults in Global Mission volunteer in Resistencia, Argentina. I learned about "diaconia" and how to walk with others as we walk with Christ. Martin Luther talked about how we should see Christ in everyone, and my time in Resistencia taught me how to do that. It was a formative experience that continues to shape my life. I hope to be able to help others from all walks of life understand how they can answer the call to service or support those who are called.

Skills/Experiences I have been an English educator for sixteen years, so I know how to work well with adolescents, young adults, and adults. I possess outstanding written and verbal communication skills, and I am a talented listener as well. I am thoughtful, caring, creative, careful, detail-oriented, bilingual, and tech-savvy.
